

The Gentlemen's Grand Tournament

A Weekend of Bloodletting and Crumpets

RockCon

October 20–21, 2012
Rockford, Illinois

Table of Contents

- Rules and Policies
 - The Reasonable Gentleman Rule
 - Rules Disputes
 - Models
 - Dice
 - Army Lists
 - * Forge World
 - * Points Limit
- Scoring
 - Games
 - * “Wipeout!” and Default Victory
 - * Reporting Results and Sportsmanship
 - Voting
 - * Favorite Army
 - * Favorite Opponent
 - * The Black Mark
 - Awards
 - * Well Played, Sir!
 - * Distinguished Gentleman
 - * Perfect Gentleman
 - * Man for All Seasons
- Final Results and Feedback
- Schedule
- Voting Ballots
- Tournament Missions
 - Round 5: “Heroic Denial”
 - Round 4: “Surgical Strike”
 - Round 3: “Take and Hold”
 - Round 2: “Hide and Seek”
 - Round 1: “Don’t Hold Back”

Rules and Policies

The Reasonable Gentleman Rule

This event respects all aspects of the Warhammer 40,000 hobby: gaming, painting and modeling, and sportsmanship. Players are expected to conduct themselves as “proper gentlemen” (and ladies) even while wearing their game faces and slaughtering their foes. After all, the slaughter is all in the name of having fun and appreciating the skill and labor our fellow gentlemen and ladies have poured into their armies.

Players who cheat, collude, or who have otherwise violated the tournament rules may, at the discretion of the Tournament Organizer, have their scores modified or, in extreme cases, be ejected from the event entirely and rendered ineligible for any prizes.

Similarly, players who, in the judgement of the Tournament Organizer, demonstrate egregiously unsportsmanlike conduct may also have their scores modified or be ejected from the event.

Rules Disputes

The Gentlemen’s Grand Tournament does not employ any FAQ or Errata documents beyond those produced by Games Workshop. Players are expected to possess a copy of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, their army Codex, and the associated Codex FAQ/Errata document produced by Games Workshop, assuming one exists. (Games Workshop’s FAQs are available on their website <www.games-workshop.com>.)

If, during the course of play, you and your opponent disagree about how to resolve a situation, calmly and rationaly discuss the issue. (Always, always remember to be a gentleman!) Make your argument based solely on the Warhammer 40,000 game rules, the rules in your Codex, and the clarifications in your Codex FAQ. Do not cite another event, what you and your mates do back home, or a third-party document (e.g., the INAT FAQ). None of these have any authority at this event.

Hopefully you will resolve the issue and get on happily with your game. However, if it becomes evident that you and your opponent will continue to disagree, you have two options.

1. The Dice Off. Both players roll a die. The winner of the roll will be allowed to use his or her interpretation for the duration of the game. After the game has ended please mention the situation and the Dice Off result to a Judge or Tournament Organizer. At this time, the Judge or Tournament Organizer will decide how the situation shall be interpreted for the remainder of the tournament. Whatever the decision, regardless of how it mimics or differs from what happened during the game, the game results shall stand.
2. Consult With The Authorities. Have one or both players summon a Judge or Tournament Organizer to the table and explain the issue to him or her. Once he or she has ruled, the decision is final and both players must abide by it.

Models

All models must be fully assembled, painted, based, and flocked. Any model that is not fully painted using at least three different colors and/or is not on a painted/flocked base (for models that require bases, of course; don’t worry about mounting your Defilers!) may not be used for any reason!

All models must be WYSIWYG. This rule is primarily focused on wargear and similar upgrades. The in-game abilities of every model should be apparent and represented.

Conversions and “counts as” are allowed and highly encouraged, but the “Reasonable Gentleman” rule will be in effect. Proactively inform your opponent of your conversions and be willing to remind your opponent during the game itself what your models represent.

That said, conversions and “counts as” substitutes must be clearly discernible and must be done either for necessity (e.g., because an official model does not exist) or for artistic effect. Lazy “counts as” conversions will not be allowed. E.g., You cannot mount a shoebox on a post and call it a Stormraven. Nor can you substitute combi-meltas for combi-plasmas on your Space Marines just because you don’t actually have combi-plasmas. On the other hand, building a detailed Stormraven out of cardboard or repurposing Tau plasma rifles or missile pods to represent Ork big shootas or rokkits for your characterful Ork Waaagh! are perfectly acceptable.

If you are concerned about any of your conversions, please consult with a Judge or Tournament Organizer. Always be forthright with your opponent. Your opponent may ask for clarifications regarding your models at any time.

Dice

Dice must be rolled on the playing surface within view of both players. You may not roll dice off the playing surface or into a box or other container placed on the playing surface. Any dice rolled in such an item, or rolled so that it goes off the playing surface—even if it lands on the table supporting the playing surface—must be re-rolled.

Of course, it is common that large numbers of dice are rolled to resolve a gaming situation. In such cases, it is strongly recommended that players remove dice marking failures, leaving behind the dice marking successes, before announcing the final result. This greatly eases the accounting for both players.

Army Lists

You must supply seven printed copies of your army list. One must be presented to the Tournament Organizer upon registration. One must be presented to each of your opponents before each game begins. The final copy is for your own use.

Players must use the same army list for the entire tournament. Opponents may ask for details or clarifications regarding the units in your army list at any time.

Armies may be selected from any currently published Codex book from Games Workshop.

Forge World

Forge World rules are not allowed at the Gentlemen's GT. If you employ Forge World models in your army, you may only use them in a "counts as" fashion using the rules from your army Codex.

Points Limit

Army lists shall total no more than 1,750 points.

Scoring

Games

Each round of the tournament has a unique combination of victory conditions defined by its mission description. (See the Tournament Missions at the end of this packet.) Every mission defines Primary, Secondary, and Tertiary Objectives, each of which are worth a fixed amount of Mission Points.

- Primary Objectives are worth 4 Mission Points.
- Secondary Objectives are worth 3 Mission Points.
- Tertiary Objectives are worth 2 Mission Points.

The player who earns the most Mission Points wins the game!

In order to claim the Mission Points for an Objective, one and only one player must satisfy the conditions for that Objective. If neither player satisfies an Objective's conditions—or if both players satisfy an Objective's conditions (i.e., they draw that Objective—neither player can claim it).

"Wipeout!" and Default Victory

If your opponent concedes the battle or you eliminate every enemy unit before the final turn is played (i.e., Wipeout!), continue to play the game. You will only score Mission Points for those Objectives that you actually qualify for when the game actually ends.

However, if you Wipeout! your opponent but are still unable to score any Objectives, you will earn 1 Mission Point for Default Victory.

Reporting Results and Sportsmanship

The bottom portion of the page defining each round's mission parameters is a score sheet. Fill it out and bring it to the Tournament Organizer's table to report your game results. You must present your score sheet simultaneously with your opponent's score sheet so that a Judge or Tournament Organizer can check that the reported game results from each player agree.

Be sure to check off the Sportsmanship rating for your opponent. Your score sheet will not be accepted until you do. This selection should be made privately, so don't share your score sheet with your opponent after you have made your selection.

Sportsmanship is always a simple either/or choice and should not be perceived as "a big deal". That's reserved for Favorite Army and Black Mark votes. See below.

Voting

This packet includes a page with three voting ballots. You will turn in each ballot independently as outlined below.

Favorite Army

By the time you report the scores for your third round game on Saturday, you must nominate one army other than your own as your Favorite Army. Beyond the suggestion that you should make your selection based on how it looks, there are no defined criteria. It's up to you to decide! Your vote is registered both secretly and anonymously.

Your best opportunity to judge your fellow participant's armies will be during the initial morning registration period on Saturday morning, before the first round of games is played.

Favorite Opponent

When you report the scores for your final game (Round 5) on Sunday, you must also present your ballot for Favorite Opponent. The player you nominate must be someone you actually played, and is the opponent you most appreciated playing. Your vote is registered both secretly and anonymously.

The Black Mark

When you report the scores for your final game (Round 5) on Sunday, you may also present a completed Black Mark ballot. The Black Mark is purely optional. You are not required to complete it! Ideally, nobody will deserve such censure.

The Black Mark is serious business. As with the Favorite Opponent vote, you can only nominate one of your previous opponents. To be deserving of this vote, the opponent must be someone that was truly unpleasant to face. Your experience playing this person is one that you hope to never again repeat. The game you played besmirched your experience of this tournament.

As with all votes, a Black Mark is registered secretly. No participants will ever know that you lodged this vote. However, a Black Mark vote is not made anonymously! You must attach your name to the ballot along with your opponent's. And you must also supply one or more reasons detailing why you believe the opponent so nominated deserves the Mark. Failing to do either of these things will result in the vote being discarded.

Awards

Several awards will be presented at the tournament. Regardless of scoring, no participant may earn more than one award. If a participant is eligible for multiple awards, the Tournament Organizer shall decide which one to present to that person, promoting the next highest ranked participant(s) for the other award(s).

The following awards are all "top" (first place) prizes, and are considered by the Tournament to be equivalent.

Well Played, Sir!

This award goes to the player with the best Win/Loss record. The margin of victory is not important, Wins are all that count. However, if tiebreaks are required, they are as follows.

- Total Mission Points
- Total Primary Objectives
- Total Secondary Objectives
- Total Tertiary Objectives

Distinguished Gentleman

This award goes to the player with the highest army appearance rating. This score is a composite of a tournament adjudicated score (85%) and Favorite Army votes (15%). Tiebreakers are as follows.

- Adjudicated score
- Favorite Army votes
- Judge's discretion

Perfect Gentleman

This award goes to the player with the highest sportsmanship rating. Players accrue (or possibly lose) a variable number of points based on game-reported Sportsmanship, Favorite Opponent votes, Black Mark votes, and, potentially, observations by Judges and Tournament Organizers logged over the course of the tournament. Tiebreakers are as follows.

- Black Marks (i.e., the lack thereof)
- Favorite Opponent votes
- Game-reported Sportsmanship
- Judge's Discretion

Man for All Seasons

This award goes to the player with the highest combined ranking for each of the other three awards, one third each for Well Played, Sir!, Distinguished Gentleman, and Perfect Gentleman. In the unlikely event that tiebreakers are required, the award will be determined by judge's discretion.

Final Results and Feedback

While the award winners will be announced at the end of the tournament, the complete final results for all participants in each award category will be posted, within a reasonable amount of time, online in the following web forums.

- Madison 40K <madison40k.com>
- Adeptus Windy City <adeptuswindycity.com/forums>
- Adeptus Brew City <adeptusbrewcity.darkbb.com>
- The Bolter and Chainsword <www.bolterandchainsword.com>
- DakkaDakka <www.dakkadakka.com>
- Warseer <www.warseer.com/forums>
- D-Company <www.d-company-wi.com>

- Terrain Specialties <z15.invisionfree.com/Terrain_Specialties/index.php>

Each of these forums has a “tournaments” or “events” subforum containing a post announcing the Gentlemen’s Grand Tournament, and where periodic updates have already been published. These topics will be updated with the complete final tallies.

Time permitting, final results for each award category may also be printed out and posted at RockCon itself as well.

You are encouraged to supply feedback regarding your experiences at the tournament, be they positive or negative. Please send an email with your thoughts to me, Damon Butler <iamdamocles@gmail.com>. Alternatively, if you are a member of any of the aforementioned web forums, you may send a private message to number6.

Thank you for participating! I hope you enjoyed the bloodletting, if not the crumpets.

Schedule

Day 1: Saturday, October 20

9:00 AM–10:00 AM	Player registration, army appearance judging
10:00 AM–12:15 PM	Round 1
12:15 PM– 1:15 PM	Lunch, army appearance judging completion (if required)
1:15 PM– 3:30 PM	Round 2
3:45 PM– 6:00 PM	Round 3

Day 2: Sunday, October 21

9:00 AM–11:15 AM	Round 4
11:30 AM– 1:45 PM	Round 5
1:45 PM– 2:00 PM	Awards Presentation

Black Mark

You may nominate one of your opponents to receive a Black Mark. See page 4 of your tournament rules packet for guidelines before submitting your vote. If you wish to submit this vote, turn it in after your final (Round 5) game on Sunday.

Your name: _____ Opponent's name: _____

Reason(s): _____

Favorite Opponent

You must nominate one of your opponents as your Favorite Opponent. See page 4 of your tournament rules packet for guidelines. Please submit this vote after your final (Round 5) game on Sunday.

Opponent's name: _____

Favorite Army

You must nominate one tournament participant as having created your Favorite Army. See page 4 of your tournament rules packet for guidelines. Please submit this vote by the time you finish your Round 3 game on Saturday.

Player's name: _____

Round 5

Heroic Denial

This mission follows all the normal rules for games of Warhammer 40,000 as outlined in the Fighting a Battle chapter of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook (e.g., Variable Game Length) except as already noted in your tournament rules packet and described below.

Deployment

This mission employs the Dawn of War deployment. (See p. 119 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.) Deploy fortifications and objective markers normally, except that players may not reposition the terrain. Furthermore, terrain is never Mysterious. It is up to the players to decide the nature of the terrain in a mutually agreeable manner before the game begins. The player who won the choice of deployment zone then deploys his or her forces as described on p. 121 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Primary Objective

Defend the Flag After determining each player's deployment zone, but before determining who will deploy first and take the first turn, the players alternate placing a total of 6 objective markers, starting with the player who won choice of deployment zone.

- The 1st objective marker each player places must be positioned in their own deployment zone.
- The 2nd objective marker each player places must be positioned in their opponent's deployment zone.
- The 3rd objective marker each player places may be positioned anywhere in their opponent's half of the table.

Objective markers must be at least 6" away from any board edge and 12" away from any other objective marker.

While you claim and contest any objective markers according to the Crusade standard mission rules defined on p. 126 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, the only ones that each player may count toward winning the "Defend the Flag" Objective are the objective markers that have been placed in their half of the table. Thus, the maximum number of objective markers either player can claim for the purposes of winning this Objective is three.

Secondary Objective

Lead by Example Have one of your HQ Independent Character, Monstrous Creature, or Walker models anywhere within your opponent's deployment zone.

Tertiary Objective

Earn any two of the following standard Victory Conditions as defined on p. 122 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook: First Blood, Linebreaker, Slay the Warlord.

Round 5 Scores

Your name: _____ Opponent's name: _____ Table #: _____

*Your Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*Opponent's Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*See p. 3 of this rules packet.

- ☐ I would be willing to play this opponent again sometime.
☐ I would be reluctant to play this opponent again in the future.

Round 4

Surgical Strike

This mission follows all the normal rules for games of Warhammer 40,000 as outlined in the Fighting a Battle chapter of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook (e.g., Variable Game Length) except as already noted in your tournament rules packet and described below.

Deployment

This mission employs the Spearhead deployment. The table is divided into four quarters, formed by drawing two imaginary perpendicular lines through the center point. Furthermore, an imaginary circle with a 12" radius is centered on the table, circumscribing an area that is not a part of any deployment zone. Agree with your opponent which pair of diagonally opposing quarters (minus the area knocked out by the circle) will be the deployment zones, or randomize to decide. The players then roll-off, and the winner chooses either of the available table quarters as his or her deployment zone. For Spearhead, a player's board edge is the long board edge touching his or her own deployment zone. Deploy fortifications and objective markers normally, except that players may not reposition the terrain. Furthermore, terrain is never Mysterious. It is up to the players to decide the nature of the terrain in a mutually agreeable manner before the game begins. The player who won the choice of deployment zone then deploys his or her forces as described on p. 121 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Primary Objective

Vital Tech Follow the Crusade standard mission rules defined on p. 126 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, ignoring the mission's Secondary Objectives. Furthermore, you must employ 3 Primary Objectives, ignoring the rules for Mysterious Objectives. One objective marker must be placed in the exact center of each non-deployment table quarter, and one objective marker must be placed in the exact center of the table.

Secondary Objective

Marked For Death Both players openly nominate 5 units (not Force Organization choices, units) from their opponent's army list, marking these choices on their copy of the army list. Each player earns a "Marked for Death" Victory Point for completely destroying each marked unit. The player who earns the most "Marked for Death" Victory Points wins this Objective.

If a player marks a unit that can break down into multiple smaller units at deployment (e.g., Space Marines Tactical Squad), any of the constituent units will count for the "Marked for Death" condition when destroyed. Even if all of the constituent squads are destroyed, the player only gets credit for the 1 "Marked" Victory Point. The first constituent squad destroyed will surrender the Victory Point.

If a player initially "Marks" a unit that is later merged together with other units at deployment (e.g., Imperial Guard Infantry Platoon squads), there are two possible outcomes. In the case where multiple units are merged but not all of them were initially "Marked", the player may immediately select an entirely different unit (or units) to "Mark for Death". If the player does not "Mark" a different unit (or units), he or she must destroy the entire merged unit to claim his or her "Marked" Victory Point(s). In the case where all of the units that merged together were initially "Marked", the player must kill the entire merged unit to claim his or her "Marked" Victory Points. The player may not select another unit (or units).

A "Marked" unit that is destroyed but later reenters play (e.g., Saint Celestine) only surrenders a single "Marked for Death" Victory Point when initially destroyed.

Units that are created during the course of play (e.g., Termagants created by Tervigons) may never be "Marked for Death".

Tertiary Objective

Earn any two of the following standard Victory Conditions as defined on p. 122 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook: First Blood, Linebreaker, Slay the Warlord.

Round 4 Scores

Your name: _____ Opponent's name: _____ Table #: _____

*Your Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*Opponent's Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*See p. 3 of this rules packet.

- ☐ I would be willing to play this opponent again sometime.
☐ I would be reluctant to play this opponent again in the future.

Round 3

Take and Hold

This mission follows all the normal rules for games of Warhammer 40,000 as outlined in the Fighting a Battle chapter of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook (e.g., Variable Game Length) except as already noted in your tournament rules packet and described below.

Deployment

This mission employs the Vanguard Strike deployment. (See p. 119 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.) Deploy fortifications and objective markers normally, except that players may not reposition the terrain. Furthermore, terrain is never Mysterious. It is up to the players to decide the nature of the terrain in a mutually agreeable manner before the game begins. The player who won the choice of deployment zone then deploys his or her forces as described on p. 121 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Primary Objective

Table Quarters The table is divided into four quarters, formed by drawing two imaginary perpendicular lines through the center point. Players claim a table quarter by having more Victory Points’ worth of units—including at least one Scoring Unit—in the quarter than their opponent. For the purposes of this Objective, Scoring Units are worth 3 Victory Points each, non-Scoring Units are worth 1 Victory Point each. However:

- Dedicated Transports can only contest an opponent’s ownership of a table quarter; they cannot claim a table quarter.
- Zooming Fliers can neither contest nor claim a table quarter. Fliers that are not Dedicated Transports may contest or claim a table quarter provided they are Hovering when the game ends.
- Swooping Flying Monstrous creatures can neither contest nor claim a table quarter. Flying Monstrous Creatures may contest or claim a table quarter provided they are Gliding when the game ends.

A player that has at least as many Victory Points’ worth of units in a quarter as their opponent but without any Scoring Units has successfully contested that quarter.

A unit can only contest or claim a single table quarter, no matter how many quarters it actually straddles. A unit that is capable of contesting or claiming more than one table quarter will contest or claim the quarter where the majority of the unit resides. If you cannot determine in which quarter the majority of a unit resides, the owning player must randomly determine which quarter the unit “counts as” claiming or contesting.

The player that claims the most table quarters wins this Objective.

Secondary Objective

Follow The Scouring standard mission rules defined on p. 129 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, ignoring the mission’s Secondary Objectives. Furthermore, ignore the rules for Mysterious Objectives.

Tertiary Objective

Earn any two of the following standard Victory Conditions as defined on p. 122 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook: First Blood, Linebreaker, Slay the Warlord.

Round 3 Scores

Your name: _____ Opponent’s name: _____ Table #: _____

*Your Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*Opponent’s Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*See p. 3 of this rules packet.

- ☐ I would be willing to play this opponent again sometime.
☐ I would be reluctant to play this opponent again in the future.

Round 2

Hide and Seek

This mission follows all the normal rules for games of Warhammer 40,000 as outlined in the Fighting a Battle chapter of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook (e.g., Variable Game Length) except as already noted in your tournament rules packet and described below.

Deployment

This mission employs the Dawn of War deployment. (See p. 119 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.) Deploy fortifications and objective markers normally, except that players may not reposition the terrain. Furthermore, terrain is never Mysterious. It is up to the players to decide the nature of the terrain in a mutually agreeable manner before the game begins. The player who won the choice of deployment zone then deploys his or her forces as described on p. 121 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Primary Objective

Follow the Purge the Alien standard mission rules defined on p. 127 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, ignoring the mission's Secondary Objectives.

Secondary Objective

Dig In Control more terrain pieces than your opponent. Terrain pieces are controlled when one or more of your units are inside or touching the terrain piece and no enemy units are inside or touching the terrain piece. Any unit except dedicated transports can claim a terrain piece. Any unit can contest ownership of a terrain piece.

Tertiary Objective

Earn any two of the following standard Victory Conditions as defined on p. 122 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook: First Blood, Linebreaker, Slay the Warlord.

Round 2 Scores

Your name: _____ Opponent's name: _____ Table #: _____

*Your Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*Opponent's Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*See p. 3 of this rules packet.

- ☐ I would be willing to play this opponent again sometime.
- ☐ I would be reluctant to play this opponent again in the future.

Round 1

Don't Hold Back

This mission follows all the normal rules for games of Warhammer 40,000 as outlined in the Fighting a Battle chapter of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook (e.g., Variable Game Length) except as already noted in your tournament rules packet and described below.

Deployment

This mission employs the Hammer and Anvil deployment. (See p. 119 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.) Deploy fortifications and objective markers normally, except that players may not reposition the terrain. Furthermore, terrain is never Mysterious. It is up to the players to decide the nature of the terrain in a mutually agreeable manner before the game begins. The player who won the choice of deployment zone then deploys his or her forces as described on p. 121 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Primary Objective

Follow the Crusade standard mission rules defined on p. 126 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, ignoring the mission's Secondary Objectives. Furthermore, you must employ 5 Primary Objectives, ignoring the rules for Mysterious Objectives.

Secondary Objective

Domination Have more Victory Points' worth of units—including at least one Scoring Unit—within 12" of the table's center point than your opponent. At least 50% of a unit must reside within this area to count. For the purposes of this Objective, Scoring Units are worth 3 Victory Points each, non-Scoring Units are worth 1 Victory Point each. However:

- Dedicated Transports can only contest an opponent's ownership of this Objective; they cannot claim this Objective.
- Zooming Fliers can neither contest nor claim this Objective. Fliers that are not Dedicated Transports may contest or claim this Objective provided they are Hovering when the game ends.
- Swooping Flying Monstrous creatures can neither contest nor claim this Objective. Flying Monstrous Creatures may contest or claim this Objective provided they are Gliding when the game ends.

A player that has at least as many Victory Points' worth of units within range of the center as their opponent but without any Scoring Units has successfully contested this Objective.

Tertiary Objective

Earn any two of the following standard Victory Conditions as defined on p. 122 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook: First Blood, Linebreaker, Slay the Warlord.

Round 1 Scores

Your name: _____ Opponent's name: _____ Table #: _____

*Your Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*Opponent's Objectives

Primary 4
Secondary 3
Tertiary 2
Default 1

*See p. 3 of this rules packet.

- ☐ I would be willing to play this opponent again sometime.
- ☐ I would be reluctant to play this opponent again in the future.